from there sent to the postma ter of Pittsburg to be referred to the surveyor for the port. It arrived late yesterday and was immediately turned over to Surveyor M. M. Garland. The first jeweler to whom i was shown thought it worth about $3,000. The second would make no estimate, but said because of the rare beauty of the ruby it might be worth $5,000. The ring will be shown to other jewelers to-day and if they agree upon a valuation it will be sent to Elkins, there to be held until the duty is paid. If no appraisement is agreed upon here it is said the ring will be sent to the treasury department at Washington.

The ring is a heavy gold band about one-eighth of an inch wide and is set with a pigeon blood ruby, oval shaped and weighing about six or even karats. It is enclosed in a satin lined white leather case. Postoffice authorities here do not admit that the duke sent the ring or in fact discuss the matter at all, but in view of all that has gone before the presumption is that he sent the ring and that it is the engagement

The opinion is ventured by some that the duke may have sent a remittance to cover the duty, which was delayed. It is also said he may be advised of the amount needed and forward it by cable.

The Elkins family also will be free to pay the duty and take the ring as soon as the amount, about $1.800, is determined.

The police say they can make neither one thing nor the other out of what Cavanaugh has told them. It is supposed that he and Mrs French understood each other pretty well. There is a report that they went to Springfield, Mass, together some time ago, but Mr French is rewhere his wife was on that occasion and that she went no further than Hartford to arrange for an operation. Her husband is an employe of the Connecticut Co.

Mrs French is a decided brunette and lived on Sunnyside avenue till she married two years ago. on what Cavanaugh has told the police, is to the effect that he accused the woman of playing him for what money she could get from him, and that last night he charged her with taking $80 from him during the Springfield trip.

On this point of money the police was asked to-day if it was so that Cavanaugh's wife lodged a complaint about a month ago and that he had taken $100 from the house and made no satisfactory report about what he had done with it. The answer of the police was that this was the business of the prosecuting attorney and they
